Helen Moizer

PAG2 report

The publication of the Pension Advisory Group (PAG2) report in December 2023 marked its second edition from the multi-disciplinary group of professionals specialising in the field of financial remedies and pensions on divorce. Helen will focus on the key points in the PAG2 guide and will touch upon recent updates.

Amelia King

Recent case law round up

Amelia will explore the recent developments in case law and practice. Placing an emphasis on practical tips, Amelia will explore key issues and changes, bringing you fully up to date.

Ian Wheaton & John Franklin

All things TOLATA

Ian Wheaton & John Franklin will cover the TOLATA procedure (the application itself, pre-action steps, the court process, CPR/deadlines). Ian & John will discuss the substantive law relating to TOLATA claims and will explore joint name cases with and without an express declaration of trust.

With an express declaration of trust

How important is the declaration of trust? Can it ever be set aside or rectified? If so, how?

Without an express declaration of trust?

What is the court's starting point as to ownership? How difficult is it to persuade the court to depart from the starting point? What factors will the court take into account when deciding whether to depart from the starting point? If it does, how will it quantify the parties' interests?

Francis Payne

Costs in financial remedy proceedings – where are we now?

Costs are at the discretion of the court. In family proceedings the court can make such orders as to costs as it thinks just: FPR 2010 r28.1. Francis will discuss how that discretion is being exercised and recent developments in this area of law.
